

A code or data representation and manipulation system that allows user to view, modify, and manipulate structured entities, such as code or data files, using their tree-like representations

Abstract